Gilmore and Ticket Speculators-Oner Dramatic News,

Harry Macdenough, who has to appear upon the stage through a trap door in " Puritable," is not at all fend of this method of necting an entrance, which is entirely new He describes his first sensations a dark room for two weeks, what my feelcellar and groped around in the dim light for ook my breath away most was the immense army of men that it required. I'm sure I ounted eleven. I dian't seem to be of much importance to them, for they merely glanced at me as the new man. When I heard the weat. All of a sudden a gong went off right over my head, which nearly knocked me off the table on which I was standing to bring me on a level with the platform of the trap. some contemptible joker set off a pan of gunpowder under my nose, and I inhaled three clouds of it. Then I heard the words come jump on! I got on, 'bang!' went the bell again. I murmured a prayer, went through the air and landed on the stage. I felt as though I had taken laughing-gas."

Ben Stern has engaged Waiter H. Mont comery, the well-known actor, for Miss Fanny pavenport's company.

"The Black Crook" management suffer considerably from the ticket speculators They wage a mild war against them, but I does not seem to bring forth satisfactory re suits. Last night Manager E. G. Glimore got very indigpant and went out to the sidewalk where he expended all the wrath of his voluminous vocabulary (rumor says that it is excessively voluminous) on the enterpris-ing ticket dealers. They answered Mr. Gilmore's arguments with language quite as toroible as his own. Gilmore boiled. He be gan to get ready to fight (rumor says he can tight) and a fracas seemed imminent. At that moment three of the manager's personal friends came up. They grasped the situation

"Come away, Gilmore," said one of them emphatically, "that's a good bluff of yours, but we all know you are in with the spec

There was no fight. Gilmore laughed, the speculators tittered, and the situation is still

The latest mania among stars playing in this city is advertising on the ash barrels. This is a positive fact. If these stars would but watch the fate of their bills when de posited on these receptacles, they would change their ideas. On one ash barrel yes terday in the course of an hour five advertise ments were posted, the second over the first, the third over the second, the fourth over the third, and a soap announcement over . . .

Glendalough," the Irms play brought to this country by Marcus Mayer and Ben stern, will be presented for the first time Nov.7. Murray, a new Irish star, will play the leading part, and Powers, the manager who first helped to make Scanlan famous, will have charge of the production, which will be scenically elaborate.

Cyril Tyler, the boy soprano "phenomenon," who was heard recently at Palmer's Theatre, will sing in Boston next Tuesday. His manager Edgar Strakosch, is awaiting the result of the "Wang" children virsus Gerry case with interest. If it is settled in favor of the children Cyril Tyler will again be heard in this city.

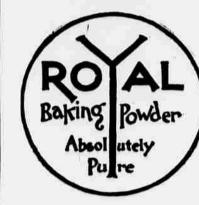

Franz Ebert, the tiny comedian now at the Union Square Theatre, is very lively as far as repartee is concerned. The other day, a gentleman who had seen the Liliputian Company in Russia some years ago, waited for Ebert at the stage door, after the performance was ever. When the little man made his appearance the gentleman introduced himself, and tild Fbert how much he admired his acting, and how grateful to him he was for the pleasant afternoon he had spent at the theatre.

"I would like to put you in my vest pocket and keep you there," said the enthusiastic spectator.

Fanny Herring, the actress now at Doris's Museum, was once a great favorite among the regular theatre-goers. She has played nearly every kind of part, and one of her great roles was Lady Macbeth. Miss Herring has a comfortable income, and spears on the Museum thrillers because she cannot endure being idle. Her methods are those of the old school, but they are solid, substantial and interesting. The boys and girls of the west side would sconer see her than Sarah Bernhardt.

E. S. Willard bought up an edition of 20,000 copies of an English paper the other day, and gossipers are wondering what there could possibly have been in that paper.

Prof. Herrmann makes this utterance for the benefit of the public: "It has been many years since I availed myself in public of the powers I possess as a spiritualistic medium. For various reasons I have reserved these as well as my feats of hypnotism for private scances. At the scilcitation, however, of many friends, who believe a spiritualistic exhibition at the present time, without any humbuggery, would prove interesting because of the large numbers of spiritualists and believers of spiritualism in the city. I have consented to portray my powers as a medium at the earliest possible date."

The management of the National Cross-ountry Association games, which are to be held at Manhattan field next Wednesday under the high sounding name of the Columbus Festival Games, is leaving no stone unturned vanced stage of the season, when the public appetite has become almost ! satisted with athletics-the meets have come too thick and fast for the best good of the sport-giving games on a big scale is a ticklish business. Still the young and energetic Columbia Athletic Club has hold of this set of games, and it is not in the habit of making a failure of what it under-takes. Its Labor Day games were the most party, and resolved to contribute to its campaign games were the most party, and resolved to contribute to its campaign fund. successful given in New York this year. The fate of the N. C. C. A. is dependent to a large extent on these games, so it is to be hoped they will be a success. The programme will be an attractive one. A three-mile entered will be an event of more than usual interest. It is promised that a majority of the cracks who competed at the A. A. U.

Tom O'Rourke, George Dixon's manager and backer, has his doubts as to the sincertry of Bill Plinimer's desire to get on a match with the colored boy at 112 pounds. He thinks the Briton is looking for advertisement. O'Rourke Says, however, that Plinimer can get a, match, provided he will agree to weigh in at 1 o'clock the day of the light and can get backing for $10,000. Judge Newton, of the Coney Island A. C., told O'Rourke that the C. I. A. C. would give a nig purse for Dixon and Johnny Griffen. O'Rourke replied that he would make the match at 118 pounds, and give Griffen an extra hour to accumulate weight after weighing in.

John L. Sullivan said yesterday that the re-

Billy Madden and his talkative protege, Goddard, are still at it. About once per day they have something to say about fighting corbett. Madden's latest is that Goddard will claim the championship Oct. 11 if Goddard's rofel of 91.000 is not covered by that time. Meantime the Australian will turn his attention towards Peter Jackson, so he says.

The genial "Parson" Davies, who is down at Navesink Highlands, where his man Choynski is training, says that a match between Jackson and Goddard is among the possibilities. Jackson, the "Parson" says, will not challenge his white countryman, as that is a thing he never does, but will doubtless accommodate him if a purse is offered.

Emanuel Lasker, the German chess expert, begins an engagement of four weeks at the Manhattan A. C. next Monday evening. He will play matches with Eugene Delmar, A. R. Hodges, D. G. Baird and other local experts. The M. A. C. will give $50 to the player who makes the best showing against Lasker.

The Yale football team took its first trial heat of the season yesterday, and the reports say made a very poor showing, beating Wesleyan only by a score of 6 to 0. Yale has a faculty of starting out poorly and then making wonderful improvement before the season closes. If the Yales were to tacklo Harvard or Princeton now, there is little doubt they would be beaten, but in coaching and developing the New Haven college excels either of the other two, so there The Yale football team took its first trial
